Virginia Tech

Invent the Future™

From its humble beginning in 1872 with 132 students and two programs of study, Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University, popularly known as Virginia Tech, has evolved into a comprehensive university of national and international prominence. With about 27,500 students in Blacksburg and about 2,500 other students statewide, the university produces world-class scholarship in a challenging academic environment. University tradition is firmly rooted in our motto, Ut Prosim (That I May Serve), and our historic land-grant mission is brought to life through learning, discovery and engagement.

Virginia Tech's eight colleges (Agriculture & Life Sciences, Architecture & Urban Studies, Engineering, Liberal Arts & Human Sciences, Natural Resources, Pamplin Business, Science and Virginia-Maryland College of Veterinary Medicine) and Graduate School offer more degree programs — approximately 200 — than any other university in the state. Virginia Tech is one of the nation's leaders in developing and using instructional technologies. More than 85 percent of departments offer e-learning courses, which have attracted more than 100,000 enrollments since 1998. During this time, more than 700 different faculty members have offered more than 3,500 different courses.

2008 Season Outlook

The young Hokies battled through another Atlantic Coast Conference season to a 14-18 record, 8-14 in the league, finishing in a three-way tie for eighth place in 2007. After gaining valuable experience last year, the squad returns several veteran contributors and breakout performers, while adding seven newcomers to the mix for the 2008 season.

SETTERS

Two-time letterwinner Michelle Lang returns to the Hokies for her junior season. The Valparaiso, Ind., native has started every match for the Hokies in her career. Lang totaled 1,419 assists on the season in 2007, ranking fourth in the conference. She will look to remain a factor in setting her teammates up, while continuing to improve offensively.

Junior Gemma Donovan and incoming freshman Erin Leaser from Allentown, Pa., will give the position some depth heading into the season.

"We have three setters that all bring different talents to our team," head coach Chris Riley said. "Michelle has done a good job running the offense for the last two years and she will have a lot of competition and support from both Gemma and Erin. All of our setters could start at any time for us this season."

Taylor Parrish

- 406 Kills, 3.50 KPG, 363 Digs
- 18 double-doubles in 2007
- VaSID All-State Second Team
- Team high 406 Kills in 2007

OUTSIDE HITTERS

The outside hitter position will once again be a strength for the Hokies, as junior Taylor Parrish and senior Sarah Muñoz return for their third year together in the program. With Parrish and Muñoz, and sophomore Amy Wengrenovich, who played in 27 matches last year, the Hokies bring back 695 kills from the outside. Wengrenovich and sophomore Jessica Emanuele who is coming back from

Michelle Lang

- 1,419 Assists, 11.73 APG, 105 Kills, 232 Digs, 123 Blocks
- Eight double-doubles in 2007
- Ranks 4th in Tech history with 1,419 assists in 2007
- Finished season ranked 4th in ACC with 11.73 APG

injury, are accompanied by two incoming freshmen Justine Record from Redwood City, Calif., and Alison Blasingame from Yorktown, Va., to add depth to the position. Jennifer Wiker, a 6-3 freshman from Charlotte, N.C., also joins the team but will most likely redshirt this fall.

"This is where we have the most experience on the team with Taylor and Sarah having played almost every match for the last two seasons," Riley said. "We have a lot of talent and depth in that spot this season and they will all be battling every practice for a spot on the floor. Amy and Jessica as sophomores and Justine, Alison and Jennifer as freshmen give us a lot of options at that position."

Sarah Muñoz

- 186 Kills, 2.11 KPG, 200 Digs
- Seven double-doubles in 2007

MIDDLE BLOCKERS

After losing All-American Katie Esbrook from the 2006 squad, the middle blocker position was a big question mark heading into last year for the Hokies. but Felicia Willoughby answered it in a big way. The Freshman of the Year in the ACC stormed onto the Tech volleyball scene and set school records in block assists (143) and total blocks (172) for a season. The Hokies will look to the sophomore from Pleasanton, Calif., for even more production in 2008.

Willoughby is joined by senior Kristen Cunningham in the middle. Cunningham, a transfer from the University of Kentucky, had a solid 2007 with her best match coming against Georgia Tech, when she tallied a season-high 12 blocks. Betsy Horowitz also will be in the mix, after seeing time in the middle and right side in her career, as will incoming freshman Kirsty Blue from Geneva, Fla.

"We expect a great deal from this group," Riley said. "Kristen, Betsy, Felicia and Kirsty will all contribute immediately in our system. They will all get plenty of playing time this season."

Kristen Cunningham

- 173 Kills, 2.22 KPG, .222 Pct., 111 Blocks, 1.42 BPG
- Ranked second on the team in BPG and hitting percentage
- All-ACC Academic Team
- Recorded season-high 12 blocks against Georgia Tech

DEFENSE

The Hokies will rely on junior Jill Gergen to anchor the defense after losing ACC career digs co-leader Amanda Cloyd to graduation.

Gergen played well in 2007, her first year with Tech after transferring from Nebraska-Kearney. She recorded 334 digs as a newcomer while playing in all 32 matches, starting 18 of them. More will be asked of Gergen this year as she transitions into a leadership role in the back row. The Hokies will be breaking in a new libero, either incoming freshmen Kirsten Higareda from Woodbridge, Va., or Jessica Woody from Rowlett, Texas. At least one of the two will need to play a significant role in order for the Hokies to have a successful season.

"Our libero and defensive specialist positions will allow us to have competitive practice every day and our serve receive should be improved," Riley said.

"Jill, Kirsten, Jessica and all the outside hitters will make us a very tough defensive team."

THE SCHEDULE

Virginia Tech opens the season as host of the Hawthorn Suites Hokie Invitational for the second consecutive year. The Hokies play host to Maryland-Eastern Shore, Winston-Salem State and Coastal Carolina in the opening homestand and will look to defend the tournament title for the third-straight year.

The Hokies then travel to three more tournaments for the remainder of their non-conference schedule. Tech will participate in the Marshall Tournament featuring Marshall, Western Kentucky and East Tennessee State and the Arkansas Tournament, facing Tennessee-Martin, Lamar and host Arkansas. Tech wraps up the non-conference schedule at the UNC-Wilmington tournament against UNC-Asheville and UNC-Wilmington.

The Hokies will open the conference season with three straight home matches at Cassell Coliseum. In-state rival Virginia travels to Blacksburg for the Hokies' conference opener on Sept. 23. Tech then faces off against 2007 ACC champion Clemson and Georgia Tech at Cassell Coliseum on Sept. 26 and Sept. 27 respectively.

Tech will play every conference opponent twice, once at home and once on the road.

Chris Riley

Chris Riley is entering his third season as head coach of the Virginia Tech volleyball team.

Riley guided a young Tech squad to a 14-18 record overall last season, and an 8-14 mark in the ACC, tying for eighth place in the conference. Riley led the group to the program's 550th victory, coming over Wake Forest on Oct. 20, and its second-consecutive sweep of the Hawthorn Suites Hokie Invitational.

Under Riley, the Hokies set Virginia Tech records with 611 block assists and 394.5 total blocks as a team in 2007. Freshman standout Felicia Willoughby flourished with Riley's guidance, having one of the best seasons ever for a Hokie rookie. Willoughby set a Tech record with 172 total blocks on the season, ranking first in the ACC and 11th in the nation. Willoughby also broke a Hokie record with 143 block assists.

In 2006, Riley led the team to its best finish since joining the ACC. The Hokies finished with a 17-14 overall record, their first winning season since 2002, and fourth in the past 14 years. Tech won a school-record 11 conference matches, including season sweeps of the 2005 Co-ACC Champions and NCAA Tournament participants, Maryland and North Carolina.

Prior to coming to Tech, Riley spent six seasons at Towson University, where he led the team to five straight 20-win seasons, three Colonial Athletic Association regular season championships, the 2004 CAA tournament championship and the 2004 NCAA Tournament. He won the CAA Coach of the Year award in 2003, and the America East Coach of the Year award in 2001. Riley had an overall record of 144-54 at Towson.

In 2005, the Tigers went 28-7, with four players earning All-CAA honors, while in 2004, Towson earned the CAA regular season title with a 13-1 record. The Tigers swept George Mason and Delaware to win the CAA tournament championship and earn a berth in the NCAA Tournament.

Riley made an immediate impact with the team upon his arrival at Towson in 2000, and in his second year as a head coach, led the team to its first winning season in six years, posting a 28-4 record.

Prior to going to Towson, Riley spent six years at St. John's University in New York. While serving as an assistant with the Red Storm, Riley helped lead the team in its inaugural year as a Division I program. He implemented off-season training programs and assisted with recruiting. Riley also started the first volleyball camp at St. John's.

Riley also spent one season as an assistant coach at his alma mater, Jacksonville University.

A 1993 graduate of Jacksonville with a bachelor of arts in English, he played for the Dolphins' golf team and formed the men's volleyball club. He was the captain of the volleyball club as a senior.

Riley has competed in beach and USA Volleyball indoor leagues and tournaments. In addition to his college coaching experience, Riley also served as the head coach for the Long Island-Big Apple Volleyball Club, a nationally recognized junior team in Nassau, N.Y., from 1998-2000.

Riley and his wife, the former Tara Cahill, are the parents of a toddler son, Aidan, baby daughter, Kieran, and newborn, Quinn. They reside in Blacksburg, Va.

The Hokies play host to the Hawthorn Suites Invitational in Cassell Coliseum on August 29-30.

2007 Season in Review

A very diverse Virginia Tech volleyball team made its way through another Atlantic Coast Conference schedule, finishing the season with a 14-18 overall record, and a 8-14 mark in conference play. Tech's youth was apparent as the Hokies split most of their weekend competition, but the seniors led Tech to a three-way tie for eighth place in the league.

Tech opened the season strong, sweeping the Hawthorn Suites Hokie Invitational for a second-straight season. Freshman Felicia Willoughby led the way and was named to the all-tournament team for her efforts, after blocking 11 William & Mary attacks in her opening match. Her 11 blocks ranks fifth on the program's single-match total block list. Later in the season, junior Kristen Cunningham would make her way onto the list as well, knocking down 12 Yellow Jacket attacks for sole possession of fourth place.

The Hokies recorded a 3-4 record in their remaining tournaments, with senior Jen Albrecht being named to the St. John's all-tournament team at St. John's and Willoughby collecting the honor at the Panther Invitational at Wisconsin-Milwaukee.

With a 6-4 record heading into conference play, the Hokies dropped a close three-game match to Virginia in a packed Memorial Gymnasium. The Miami Hurricanes came to Cassell Coliseum six days later and pulled off a close five-game victory. The Hokies responded though, sweeping Florida State the following day.

Clemson and Georgia Tech proved to be tough the following weekend, handing the Hokies two straight losses. But Tech went on to win five of its next seven matches, including the program's 550th victory, with a 3-1 win over Wake Forest.

Felicia Willoughby and Taylor Parrish

The match also marked a milestone in senior libero Amanda Cloyd's career, as she collected 18 digs in the win to break the ACC's all-time dig record. She went on to end the season sharing the top spot with Duke's Jenny Shull, at 2,200.

The Hokies struggled from there, dropping four straight matches before sweeping NC State in Raleigh, N.C., to snap the streak. Tech ended its road contests with a three-loss skid, before returning to Blacksburg to complete the season sweep of the Demon Deacons. No. 24 Duke swept the Hokies on Senior Day to draw the 2007 season to a close.

As a team, the Hokies shattered the program's blocking records, collecting 611 block assists to become the first squad to team together for more than 600 blocks. The record was set last season at 477, with the 2007 Hokies collecting 134 more than the previous record. The 611 block assists also helped push the Hokies' total blocks count to 394.5, surpassing last years record breaking total of 312.5.

At season's end, honors rolled in for Willoughby. She was named the ACC Freshman of the Year after leading the team and league in blocks per game all season, and finishing the season ranked tied for 19th nationally. The rookie was also named to the ACC All-Freshman Team. She went on to garner AVCA East Region and VaSID Rookie of the Year honors, in addition to being named an honorable mention in the AVCA All-East Region, a Rising Star by CVU.com, and to the Virginia All-State First Team. Sophomore Taylor Parrish and senior Amanda Cloyd were also honored by VaSID, being named to the state's second-team.

Academically, Albrecht was named to ESPN The Magazine's Academic All-District III University Division's First Team for a third straight season, while Cunningham and Cloyd were honored on the All-ACC Academic Team. Albrecht, Cloyd, Cunningham, Gemma Donovan, Jessica Emanuele, Jill Gergen, Cathy Jansen, Michelle Lang, Amy Wengrenovich and Felicia Willoughby all earned spots on the 2007-08 ACC Honor Roll. Albrecht and Jansen represented the volleyball team on Virginia Tech's All-Academic Team.

KATIE ESBROOK

All-America
Honorable Mention

Katie Esbrook already had her place among Virginia Tech's all-time greats at middle blocker heading into the 2006 season, her senior year. But, by the time the season was complete, her name would forever be etched in Tech's record books and her place among the greats secured.

The Barrington, Ill., native put together a stellar final season, en route to becoming Tech's first All-American, by being selected as an honorable mention by the American Volleyball Coaches Association (AVCA).

The two-time preseason All-ACC selection was also the first to garner first-team AVCA All-Region status and to earn a spot on the All-ACC first team.

Esbrook finished her career holding Tech's all-time hitting percentage clip and top block assists record. Hitting .324 in her career, she also holds four of the top six single season percentage marks. Defensively, she tops all other blockers with 374 assists, while ranking fifth with 87 solo blocks for second place in Tech's total blocks category, with 461.

HALL OF FAME

GINNY LESSMAN-STONICK

Ginny Lessman-Stonick played at Tech from 1980-83. As a four-year starter, Stonick was regarded as one of the top setters in the east, and helped lead Tech to a 119-70 record, including an AIAW regional appearance in 1980.

The star setter and co-captain of the 1983 squad was the only player from District III to garner first-team Academic All-America honors that season. With a 3.88 GPA in electrical engineering, Stonick was also selected to the Academic All-America team her junior year.

In 1994, Stonick's first year of being eligible for induction into the Tech Sports Hall of Fame, she was elected, becoming the youngest member of the Hall. She was also only the second woman selected.

LISA PIKALEK

Lisa Pikalek played at Tech from 1989-92. In four years, the standout helped the Hokies to a 94-56 record, while maintaining over a 3.9 GPA in her dual major of psychology and sociology.

By the time she graduated, she was a three-time Academic All-American and four-time All-Metro conference selection, a first in Metro Conference history. She was also named the GTE Academic All-American of the Year in 1992.

Pikalek, who still holds three career records and two single-season top spots at Tech, became one of two Tech female student-athletes to have their jerseys retired in 1993.

Pikalek was a 2004 inductee into the Tech Sports Hall of Fame.

Atlantic Coast Conference

THE TRADITION

Consistency. It is the mark of true excellence in any endeavor.

However, in today's intercollegiate athletics, competition has become so balanced and so competitive that it is virtually impossible to maintain a high level of consistency.

Yet the Atlantic Coast Conference has defied the odds. Now in its 56th year of competition, the ACC has long enjoyed the reputation as one of the strongest and most competitive intercollegiate conferences in the nation. And that is not mere conjecture, the numbers support it.

Since the league's inception in 1953, ACC schools have captured 109 national championships, including 57 in women's competition and 52 in men's. In addition, NCAA individual titles have gone to ACC student-athletes 145 times in men's competition and 92 times in women's action.

Volleyball made its debut in the ACC in 1980, with conference play beginning in 1981. Now in its 28th season, the ACC has enjoyed vast success both on and off the court.

The ACC has had six AVCA All-Americans, including Georgia Tech's Kele Eveland, who in 2003 became the league's first player to earn first-team accolades, and Lynnette Moster, who became the ACC's only three-time recipient of All-America honors in 2004. The conference has also produced 24 Academic All-Americans, eight Region/District Freshmen of the Year and 13 Region/District Coaches of the Year. A total of 165 student-athletes have been selected to the All Region/District team, while 74 have been honored on the All-Academic Region/District team.

Since the inception of the AVCA Division I Coaches Poll in 1982, seven ACC schools have been ranked in at least one final poll. Two schools have finished in the top 10 in the nation.

The ACC sent a team to the NCAA Championship Regional Round in three of the last five seasons. In 2002, North Carolina advanced to the Regionals, becoming the first ACC school to advance to the Regional Round since Duke in 1994. Georgia Tech made ACC history in 2003 when it advanced to the Regional Finals of the NCAA Championship, marking the farthest run of any ACC team in NCAA Championship play. The Yellow Jackets again reached the Regionals in 2004.

2007-08 IN REVIEW

The 2007-08 academic year saw league teams capturing four national team titles and 12 individual NCAA crowns. In all, the ACC has won 43 national team titles over the last 12 years. The ACC has won two or more NCAA titles in 26 of the past 28 years.

A total of 140 ACC teams placed in NCAA post-season competition in 2007-08. League teams compiled a 119-69 (.633) mark against non-conference opponents in NCAA championship competition. In addition, the ACC had 154 student-athletes earn first team All-America honors this past year. Overall, the league had 258 first, second or third team All-Americans. In addition, the ACC produced 10 national Players of the Year and five national Coach of the Year honorees.

THE CHAMPIONSHIPS

The conference will conduct championship competition in 25 sports during the 2008-09 academic year — 12 for men and 13 for women.

The 12 sports for men include football, cross country, soccer, basketball, swimming, indoor and outdoor track, wrestling, baseball, tennis, golf and lacrosse. Fencing, which was started in 1971, was discontinued in 1981.

Women's sports were initiated in 1977 with the first championship meet being held in tennis at Wake Forest University.

Championships for women are currently conducted in cross country, field hockey, soccer, basketball, swimming, indoor and outdoor track, tennis, golf, lacrosse, softball and rowing, while volleyball determines its champion in regular season play.

A HISTORY

The Atlantic Coast Conference was founded on May 8, 1953, at the Sedgefield Inn near Greensboro, N.C., with seven charter members — Clemson, Duke, Maryland, North Carolina, North Carolina State, South Carolina and Wake Forest — drawing up the conference by-laws.

The withdrawal of seven schools from the Southern Conference came early on the morning of May 8, 1953, during the Southern Conference's annual spring meeting. On June 14, 1953, the seven members met in Raleigh, N.C., where a set of bylaws was adopted and the name became officially the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Suggestions from fans for the name of the new conference appeared in the region's newspapers prior to the meeting in Raleigh. Some of the names suggested were: Dixie, Mid South, Mid Atlantic, East Coast, Seaboard, Colonial, Tobacco, Blue-Gray, Piedmont, Southern Seven and the Shoreline.

Duke's Eddie Cameron recommended that the name of the conference be the Atlantic Coast Conference, and the motion was passed unanimously. The meeting concluded with each member institution assessed $200.00 to pay for conference expenses.

On December 4, 1953, conference officials met again at Sedgefield and officially admitted the University of Virginia as the league's eighth member. The first, and only, withdrawal of a school from the ACC came on June 30, 1971, when the University of South Carolina tendered its resignation.

The ACC operated with seven members until April 3, 1978, when the Georgia Institute of Technology was admitted. The Atlanta school had withdrawn from the Southeastern Conference in January of 1964.

The ACC expanded to nine members on July 1, 1991, with the addition of Florida State University.

The conference expanded to 11 members on July 1, 2004, with the addition of the University of Miami and Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University. On October 17, 2003, Boston College accepted an invitation to become the league's 12th member starting July 1, 2005.

Academic Services

The success of Virginia Tech's volleyball program rests largely on the academic progress of each student-athlete. The academic performance of Tech student-athlete has improved each year due in part to the Student Athlete Academic Support Services (SAASS).

The Virginia Tech graduation rate for student-athletes has risen significantly in recent years and will be a school-best 76 percent for 2007. This marks the fourth time in the last six years that Virginia Tech's student-athlete graduation rate has been 70 percent or better.

In addition to posting impressive graduation figures, current Virginia Tech student-athletes continue to excel in the classroom. For the 2007 calendar year, 501 3.0 GPA's were earned by student-athletes, student trainers, student managers, cheerleaders and High Techs.

Student-athletes devote many hours to practice, conditioning and training that are not required of all students. Due to their time commitment and their high visibility, it is an obligation and in the best interest of the university to supply these students with services which will allow them to maximize their academic potential.

The Virginia Tech SAASS office is committed to providing fundamental and supplemental programming, consistent with university and NCAA policy, aimed at enhancing each student-athlete's educational experience.

In the 2006-07 academic year, the SAASS office moved to the West Side of Lane Stadium. Here, student-athletes have access to state-of-the-art technology, quiet study facilities, individualized tutorial rooms and direct access to the SAASS staff. This complex is the focal point for the Athletics Department, both aesthetically and pragmatically, and provides a centralized place for student-athlete services.

Together, these spaces provide the student-athletes with a variety of study environments conducive to their success. Athletes can use these facilities between classes, after practice or in the evenings, with flexible hours tailored to make the most of a student-athlete's limited time.

Colin Howlett, in his 12th year at Tech, is serving as the interim director of the Student Athlete Academic Support Services office.

Katie Ammons, a former standout Hokie student-athlete, serves as an assistant director and is in her 10th year in the SAASS office. Ammons works with the men's and women's basketball and volleyball, and is also in charge of the operation of the computer labs and other computing resources available for student-athletes.

Terrie Repass is in her 34th year at Virginia Tech. She serves as the office secretary and "first contact" person for SAASS.

SAASS AT A GLANCE

Stakeholders of the office's mission include student-athletes and their families, the university community, coaches and athletics administrators. SAASS seeks to develop relationships with its stakeholders that are founded on trust and respect, and provides the following services to accommodate their needs:

- University and NCAA information
- Orientation
- Academic assessment
- Development of an effective student life program
- Appropriate referrals
- Monitored study environments
- Tutorial programs
- State-of-the-art technological learning assistance
- Student-athlete academic performance evaluations

Assistant Director of Athletics for Student Life Reyna Gilbert and Coordinator of Student Life Danny White run the Athletics Office of Student Life

SAAC

The Student Athlete Advisory Committee (SAAC) promotes effective communication between athletic administration and student-athletes. SAAC is comprised of representatives from each sport, who meet twice a month to discuss issues and concerns regarding their sports, the department of athletics and ACC and NCAA legislation. The student-athletes encourage their teammates to get involved both on campus and in the community. This year, the volleyball representatives are Jill Gergen and Betsy Horowitz

Student Life

Led by the Virginia Tech Student Athlete Advisory Committee, Hokie student-athletes volunteered countless hours in the local community last year. In addition, over 400 Virginia Tech student-athletes earned a 3.00 grade point average during one or both semesters in 2007. The accomplishments are even more amazing in the context of the 2007-2008 athletic seasons being some of the most successful in Virginia Tech history.

The Virginia Tech Athletics Office of Student Life programs and services are inspired from the NCAA/CHAMPS (Challenging Athletes' Minds for Personal Success) Life Skills Program. The program has been previously honored for its commitment to serving the good of the student-athletes by the Division I-A Athletic Director's Association as a Program of Excellence.

CAREER DEVELOPMENT

The Student Life Office worked with Becca Scott in the Virginia Tech Career Services Center to create programs designed to teach student-athletes why they are much sought after for their transferable skills (resiliency, time management, teamwork, competitiveness and ambition).

ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE

The Virginia Tech Athletics Office of Student Life is responsible for nominating student-athletes for academic honors and awards. Athletes are nominated for on-campus, Atlantic Coast Conference and national awards. Student-athletes with a 3.0 GPA are rewarded each semester by being honored on the Athletic Director's Honor Roll. The 2007 calendar year listed 432 student-athletes with this honor.

COMMUNITY OUTREACH

Virginia Tech student-athletes are involved more than ever in the local community. Having volunteered many hours in the schools, community groups and hospitals, the student-athletes are setting a high precedent for all involved with the program. Under the "Hokies with Heart" umbrella, each sports team has a community partner with which they volunteer their time and host a home match to honor the partnership program. The volleyball team will partner with Kipps Elementary in 2008.

Former right side Jen Albrecht was also honored with the ACC Top Six for Service Award. The award is given to three male and three female athletes who have shown outstanding community service to Virginia Tech and the community.

Sports Medicine

The Sports Medicine Department at Virginia Tech is constantly evolving to incorporate new ideas utilizing state-of-the-art resources for the betterment of all Hokie student-athletes. Under the leadership of Assistant Director of Athletics for Athletic Training Mike Goforth, the department is constantly improving and developing new strategies to provide the most current and comprehensive care.

Their team of certified athletic trainers, orthopedic surgeons, Board Certified primary care physicians, chiropractors, physical therapists, sport psychologists, nutritionists, massage therapists and orthotists are available on site to manage the health care needs of Tech athletes. The staff continually looks for ways to enhance the services provided for their athletes as evidenced by their participation in local and national projects pertaining to related topics such as concussion management, prevention of antibiotic resistant types of staph infection (MRSA), high ankle sprains and collegiate health care management strategies.

Tech is entering its eighth full year in the 4,300-square-foot Eddie Ferrell Memorial Training Room, which consolidated the training rooms that existed in the Merryman Center and Cassell Coliseum. The facility nearly doubled the size of the former Merryman Center facility. Tech now has more than 10,000 square feet dedicated to sports medicine, placing in the top five percent nationally. The $10 million Merryman Center includes 2,400 square feet of medical space and a physician's suite. The suite is equipped with a new state-of-the-art X-ray system, a fluoroscopy unit and a minor procedure room. The training room also has offices for the staff, dozens of training tables, two cold tubs, whirlpools, an underwater treadmill, a Biodex System 3 and various other pieces of rehabilitation equipment and treatment modalities.

Research is also considered to be instrumental to the sports medicine department. The department has participated in several projects with the College of Engineering and school of education, respectively.

The range of benefits that athletes have access to includes custom orthotics, custom mouth guards, specialized DonJoy prophylactic bracing and many other options to help prevent or protect them from injuries.

The sports medicine staff also takes great pride in treating athletes year-round. Special attention is paid to off-season activity. During this time, the staff will analyze past injury data from each participant and construct a preventative program.

A vital part of student-athlete medical services is access to the Montgomery Regional Hospital's SWVA Center for Orthopaedics and Schiffert Student Health Center. Both facilities are staffed with qualified physicians and staff, and feature a wide variety of technologies designed to increase the level of care available to athletes.

Over the past 10 years, Tech has developed the reputation for producing top-level certified athletic trainers. Graduates are now employed in positions across the country at various levels of the profession. Emily Hutcherson will serve as the trainer for the volleyball team this fall.

Athletic Performance

There's much more to athletic performance than weight training. Always striving to stay on the cutting edge, Virginia Tech has combined strength and conditioning with nutrition and sport psychology to the benefit of its student-athletes. At Tech, these areas are part of the student-athletes' preparation — not just for game day, but also for life. Virginia Tech tries to provide the best services, facilities and support staff for all its student-athletes to make them better athletes and better people.

STRENGTH & CONDITIONING

One of the most important aspects of a successful program is its strength and conditioning program.

Thanks to the direction of Assistant Athletics Director for Athletic Performance Mike Gentry, the Virginia Tech strength and conditioning program is among the best in the nation.

Assisting Gentry in the weight room this year are four full-time assistant strength and conditioning coaches. Terry Mitchell is the assistant director of strength and conditioning. Former football players Jarrett Ferguson and Keith Short, as well as former Tech volleyball player Jamie Meyer, serve as coordinators for strength and conditioning.

SPORT PSYCHOLOGY

Virginia Tech offers another important service to all of its student-athletes — sport psychology. Dr. Gary Bennett coordinates the sport psychology department, which offers psychological and performance enhancement services for student-athletes. Bennett also works closely with the Cook Counseling Center.

Bennett meets with student-athletes on an individual basis for personal counseling and to discuss the mental aspects of the game. He also works on team building, communication and performance enhancement.

The sport psychology department also offers an injury group to afford injured athletes the opportunity to meet with other injured athletes and talk about their recovery process. Injured athletes may also meet individually with the sport psychologists. One of the sport psychology resources is the Dynavision 2000, a unique conditioning and training program designed to increase focus and concentration, improve coordination and visuomotor reactions and increase peripheral awareness. Virginia Tech is privileged to be one of only a handful of schools with this cutting-edge technology.

SPORTS NUTRITION

Eating healthy and choosing nutritious diets are important aspects of a Virginia Tech student-athlete's life and that's why in July 2002, the athletics department implemented the sports nutrition program. Amy Freel serves as the director.

Freel provides services for entire teams and also works individually with student-athletes to provide them with information they need on their diet. She provides individual players with diet counseling on issues such as gaining lean muscle mass, losing body fat, and eating choices to improve their athletic performance.

In July 2002, the Virginia Tech Athletics Department purchased the BodPod body composition system. Tech is one of a handful of college athletic departments using this type of technology. It accurately measures body composition (percent of body fat, lean muscle mass and fat mass) through air displacement. Research has shown that an increase in lean muscle mass will increase athletic performance.

The sports nutrition program has helped countless Tech athletes maximize their athletic performance.

WHAT IS A HOKIE?

That's the most often-asked question in Virginia Tech athletics. The answer leads all the way back to 1896 when Virginia Agricultural and Mechanical College changed its name to Virginia Polytechnic Institute. With the change came the necessity for writing a new cheer and a contest for such a purpose was held by the student body. Senior O.M. Stull won first prize for his "Hokie" yell, which is still used today. Later, when asked if "Hokie" had any special meaning, Stull explained the word was solely the product of his imagination and was used only as an attention-getter for his yell. It soon became a nickname for all Tech teams and for those people loyal to Tech athletics. The official school colors – Chicago maroon and burnt orange – also were introduced in 1896. They were chosen because they made a "unique combination" not worn elsewhere at the time.

Virginia Tech volleyball home matches are held in Cassell Coliseum and are free of charge. No credentials are needed for entrance. Media interested in attending these matches are encouraged to notify the Virginia Tech Athletics Communications Office for further information.

HOKIE STONE STORY

Most of the buildings on the beautiful Tech campus are constructed using Hokie Stone. This natural rock is a 475-million-year-old dolomite limestone, some of which is mined from a quarry located not far from campus. In constructing the buildings at Tech, a stonemason shapes individual stones, arranges them and cements them together with mortar to create walls of great strength and durability.

Blacksburg, Virginia

One of America's best college towns, Blacksburg is a perfect setting for Virginia Tech.

Located in Southwest Virginia on a plateau between the Blue Ridge and Alleghany Mountains, Blacksburg combines the laid-back lifestyle of a small town with the amenities one would expect to find in a major center of higher education. Together, the town and university have worked hard to create a progressive community that ranks among the nation's elite living environments.

Virginia Tech and the Town of Blacksburg gained national and international attention by creating the world's first "electronic village." Businesses and industries have been drawn by the potential of the quaint town.

Established in 1798 by John and William Black, the town is surrounded by scenic mountain views that accentuate the area. Since its founding, Blacksburg has grown to become the largest town in Virginia.

The nearly 42,000 residents (including students) enjoy close proximity to a variety of recreation areas such as the Blue Ridge Parkway, Appalachian Trail, Claytor Lake and the New River. The region features a moderate climate and four distinct seasons. Blacksburg's location (adjacent to major interstate highways) provides convenient access to most points in the southern and eastern parts of the country.

More information on Blacksburg can be found on the Web site of the Blacksburg Electronic Village, www.bev.net or the town's web site, www.blacksburg.va.us.

From a quaint downtown area, to the nearby Cascades, to the thrill and excitement of football games at Lane Stadium, Blacksburg and the surrounding area have a lot to offer.
